Dear Harold

The possibilities of the released data:

I W.R. Correct

II misinterpretation/deception of analysis of actual data

III a correct analysis of national or substituted data.

A priori logic obviates I. Two is only partially correct. Thus, III, a substitute or false data, a conclusion that is based on discrepancies between various reports including Panel Review etc. Unfortunately, such a deception could only be proved by previous medical data, data unavailable. Of course, you could reveal anomalies, gaps, contradictions etc. But this approach will lead nowhere!

" To borrow a phrase of J.G. — We're been throttled!"

The Government possesses the cross-reference data!

N.P. mentioned the possibility of collaboration on a Kaplan Book.

I advise H.W., My good friend, not H.W., the writer, to accept any new project for your own good - fiscal, emotional, political - and not to allow yourself to be trapped in a maze of blank walls.

Get a fresh perspective. You can always return if a break develops.

Sincerely,
